

Dynamic Healing Homeopathy

Client/Practitioner Agreement

Successful homeopathic treatment requires establishing and maintaining a safe, trusting relationship between client and practitioner. I have found that establishing clear expectations to support the success of the relationship greatly contributes to the healing process. Therefore, to optimize the therapeutic process, I ask that we agree to the following guidelines:

A. HOMEOPATHY

Homeopathy is an alternative therapy and is not a substitute for medical treatment. Homeopathic treatment is safe for the elderly, children and even infants. It is also safe and beneficial for animals.

The therapy does not include diagnosis of any physical or psychological condition. Homeopathic remedies are available OTC (over the counter) and have been FDA approved. While I am a certified homeopath, I am neither a licensed physician nor a therapist.

B. COMMUNICATION

Successful communication is vital to homeopathic treatment. Follow-up sessions are as critical to homeopathic treatment as the initial intake. As part of your health plan, please make a commitment to maintaining close communication with your homeopath about your progress. Feedback to your homeopath is extremely important to improving your health.

Sessions are confidential. If you would like me to share information with another caregiver, I will provide you with a release form to sign.

Do not leave messages containing confidential or complicated information. If I have not returned your call within 48 hours, please call back as I may have somehow missed your message.

There is no charge for short calls (less than 5 minutes).

F. HOMEOPATHIC REMEDIES

Homeopathic remedies are highly diluted, non-toxic preparations made by homeopathic pharmacies in accordance with the U.S. Homeopathic Pharmacopoeia and approved by the FDA. Homeopathic remedies usually come in the form of small sugar pellets that dissolve under the tongue. Some may also be taken in liquid form. They are tasteless and odorless.
